

Target and collateral position readouts; blue label is the primary ball-height target

These are shifts in a frozen codec readout of model endpoint estimates, not independently measured physical states.